It is only fair to William Baden of Park City, to say that he is not the party who figures in the Police Court here so often as a drunk.

A party who claims to know all about it, stated last night that the new pitcher was left in the box for the Salt Lake to-day is Castone, of Kansas City.

THE ARTICLE in to-day's SUNDAY Herald by Nym Crinkle on the Gila-son-Ingersoll controversy is one that will be read with a great deal of pleasure by Salt Lake and Slinger alike. These articles are secured by The Herald exclusively for this portion of the United States.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT that the City Council will meet as a board of equalization will be pleasant reading this morning to those who want to make a kick because their property is assessed at about one-fourth what they were offered for it during earlier months. We want to note the names of the assessors and then examine the option lists.

IN ANOTHER column of The Herald is the announcement of a grand excursion to Utah and Bear Lake Valleys, leaving the Utah Central depot in this city at 8 a. m. on Wednesday, August 15. It is an excellent chance to make a trip to the famous Soda Springs, or to visit friends in Cache or Bear Lake. The tickets are good for thirty days to Soda Springs and Montpelier, and for ten days to all points between Brigham City, Utah, and Oxford Idaho. See the advertisement for fare, etc.

WHERE is the watchman at Liberty Park, is the question many drivers are asking, and asking in vain. On Monday evening three racers drove in sulkeys tore down the track in the Park, and several ladies who were out driving, and to turn out upon the grass to all the racers to meet. "Many ladies" request The Herald to urge that the Park police who are kept at its post a little more regularly, if there is any Park policeman to exist.

SOME LITTLE excitement was created last night by the report that a man had been held up on First East Street, and robbed of $200. It appears that shortly before 11 o'clock, a man named Tobias, a very stout man, on First East, between Second and Third South Streets, and stated he had been stopped a short distance down the street, and robbed of $200. He then left without giving any further information. It is said that he was under the influence of liquor at the time and the truth of his statement is doubted.

THE EXPOSITION CAR

On Its Triumphal Tour Through the East.

AN EXPERT ON ELECTRIC ROADS

Real Estate Matters—Test of the Casebolt System—General Business Notes.

NICK BERNARDIS has sold his restaurant to an old Onray man.

ELIAN MORRIS is putting up another brick store on his premises west of the old Council House.

EASTON'S restaurant is being renovated, preparatory to being opened under new management.

The appearance of Second South Street, east of Main, will be vastly improved with the completion of the Kull, Pitts and Nystrum buildings.

The Salt Lake City Railroad Company will immediately proceed to erect poles from the corner of Second South and Ninth East Streets to the corner of Tenth East, and thence south to the corner of Fifth South, for the purpose of fully testing the Casebolt overhead cable system. The result will be awaited with considerable interest.

B. G. RAYBOLD's handsome building on Main Street is just about completed, and will be ready for occupancy in a few days. C. H. McCoy, the druggist, will occupy the north store, while Joseph H. Hargreaves, the merchant tailor, will hold forth in the other. The upper floor has been leased to Mrs. Nellie Watson, who will let furnished apartments.

REAL ESTATE.

Real estate dealers say that business continues to be quiet with them, although there is a good demand for acreage property. Numerous inquiries are being received from the east in regard to residence and business property, and there is a general belief that a number of buyers will come here next month, and that a large amount of eastern capital will be invested in Salt Lake. Agents report that a large number of families have arrived here lately, and that there is a big demand for houses of all sizes. The numerous stores and business blocks that are being erected are all rented long before they are completed, and owners of business sites are disposed to improve them.

ELECTRIC RAILROADS

H. M. Ogden, representing the Thompson-Houston Electric Company, arrived in this city yesterday from Chicago. Knowing that considerable interest is taken in this city in regard to electric roads, a Herald reporter called on the gentleman yesterday, and inquired the room that a horse car system does, and the advantages it possesses over the ordinary systems are really too numerous to be stated. The idea that it is dangerous is erroneous—it is absolutely safe. There are virtually but two systems of electric roads in use, the Thompson-Houston and the Sprague. The electric system has been in use for six years, the one at Toronto, having been put in in 1883, and is yet in successful operation. It is true that it costs twice as much money to equip an electric road as it does a horse car system, but this is more than offset by the fact that it does not cost half as much to operate the former as it does the latter.

THE EXPOSITION CAR.

"With the exception of at Kalamazoo," writes Mr. Culmer, "where the Barnum circus wholly engrossed the city, this Michigan Central trip has been the most successful yet. At Battle Creek, which only claims some 16,000 population, we had, as I compute, between 7,000 and 8,000 in the car on Saturday and Sunday.

At Ann Arbor, we had an elegant reception. The car was filled all day with professors, Judge Colburn, who graduated there, having excited much interest in advance. It would be an endless task to say what good I think the car is accomplishing, and perhaps it is not for me to say it at all but our trip to Ann Arbor will long be remembered there; and as many of the text books used in the schools are born on Utah trip. Mr. Pattee, professor of geology and mineralogy, assures me that both near and Professor Winchell will see to it that Utah is better acknowledged in the future, as their eyes had been wonderfully opened.

In Buffalo we have had two great days—a jam from morning until night—while the papers have been most liberal. Every paper in the town has had over half a column, while the Courier and the Express, the two most influential papers in the western part of New York State, have interviewed me, and have done all they could to boom the car. This is all the more gratifying because the papers are conducted on strict and high-toned principles. I am saving all the papers I can get hold of; but may have the best articles after we have left, and we can then again, the weeklies and monthlies must be pretty well charged with matter, if we can judge by the reporters whom we entertain, but whose articles (for which they take copious notes) we never see. In two instances, there have been representatives of English publications and in one case for a German paper of Berlin.

REPUBLICANS RATIFY.

The Meeting Held at Provo Last Night.

AN ADDRESS BY C. S. VARIAN.

Talks About Free Trade—Speeches by J. E. Clinton, Judge Emerson and Others.

The Silver Band, with a number of citizens, met at the depot the crowd coming from the north on the regular 6:15 train from Salt Lake. Mr. Sutherland introduced C. S. Varian to those at the depot as the principal speaker of the meeting to-night and the next Republican delegate to Congress. The Provo and Nephi Brass Bands and a large number of Nephtites marched from the depot to the hotel. There was a very large delegation of citizens from Nephi and other parts of the south present. The Democratic badges present were more conspicuous among the crowd than the Republican. When Alex. Sutherland made the announcement that Varian would be the next delegate to Congress, there were shouts and hisses. Among the prominent Republicans from Nephi were James A. Clinton, Alma Hague, Charlie Andrews, Jesse Robbins, Henry Adams, the prosecuting attorney of Nephi. At 8 p. m. the Nephi and Provo Brass Bands met at the bank corner, and infused some enthusiasm into the crowd which marched to the Opera House which was about two-thirds full. George Sutherland called for the delegates from Nephi and the south to take seats upon the stage. Honorable A. S. Varian, for much of the evening, stated the object of the meeting—that they had come out to ratify the nomination of the man who will be elected and inaugurated as President of the United States, on the 4th of next March. Mr. Varian told a story about a Seven-Day Adventist and the Kentucky Democrats. He then introduced the Hon. C. S. Varian, of the Republican Party, said Mr. Varian came before the country having much confidence in the people who are thinkers. This is the first time that the great majority of the people of the commonwealth of Utah claimed to belong to either party. The Republican party believe in a free ballot as against any combination of priest-craft or ecclesiastical power. In 1861 that party took their soldiers and bayonets, risked their lives and fortunes for the maintenance of a genuine Republicanism. It was Lincoln who said: "If you can deceive a part of the people, you may deceive all of the people." There is going to be some kind of a reorganization next fall. President Cleveland has thrown down a manifesto—free trade. Here he undertook to prove that slavery and free trade walked hand in hand. Free trade was the most potent factor in the enslaving of labor. Here he said something about whisky, but it was very low. He said that Harrison would protect the laborer against foreign competition. He read extensively from English papers to show that Cleveland was a free trader. From free-trade England came words of cheer for Cleveland. He claimed that Canada's advantages were equal to those of the United States, and they could send their product into America free of tariff duty and work a serious injury to the laboring classes of our country. He said he had in his possession statistics of Canada, and he was astounded at the great amount of injury which Canada could work against the laboring classes into getting into America the productions of that country tariff free. Manufacturers and laborers are banding together, protesting against free trade. He was willing to leave this matter to the judgment of the people and asked the audience to study well and thoroughly digest the legitimate stand taken by the Republican party. Mr. Charles Crane, of Kanosh, read a long, dreary, monotonous statistical epistle. James E. Clinton was introduced after Charles Crane, of Kanosh as a "root-power" of the south. Clinton read an essay devoted to wool and the wool interests as compared with other products advocating protection. After reading a few sentences he became enthusiastic, and without referring to his notes made a good protection speech. Without attempting to criticize others, Judge Emerson made the happy speech of the evening. He said the young men needed to be trained in the great moral principles of a government. We have to dwell upon the fact of the Republican party. There are some good men in the Democratic party. I do not know how they got there. I have often prayed for them, for of all men the Democrats are best praying for and concluded by giving his reasons why we should ratify the nomination of Harrison and Morton. He advised all good Republicans to go home and pray for the Democrats. He said he recognized in the audience quite a number of Democrats who had been present on the anxious stand waiting to be labored with. It was only a question of time before they would be right with the Republican party.

On the motion of Mr. Sutherland, a vote of thanks was tendered to the speakers and bands of Provo and Nephi, and at 11:30 the meeting adjourned.

R. OF P. REVOLVENT EXCURSION.

The committee having the above excursion in charge have been very fortunate in securing the assistance of the noted quartette which caused such widespread comment for the part they took in the presentation of the Bohemian Girl, in this city, some time ago. The quartette consists of Messrs. R. C. Easton, Heber Giddard, J. D. Spencer and H. G. White. On being approached and the object of the excursion stated to them, they cheerfully agreed to do all they could to assist the widow and the orphan by contributing to the attractiveness of the excursion. This quartette alone should draw a large attendance at Lake Park on Tuesday. Prof. Kent has also prepared a most taking programme for the occasion.

AUGUST 6th, 1888, will be a day long to be remembered at Lake Park. "The Forresters" will give their celebrated excursion upon that date, and are making extensive preparations for the largest number of people who have attended any excursion this season. As their last year's excursion was among the largest that season, they shall endeavor to repeat it this.

THE BAND BENEFIT.

The promoters of the Garfield Beach band benefit, which has been set for Friday, the 10th, are working assiduously, and if their efforts are supported by the public, there is no doubt of a handsome sum being raised. Prof. Pedersen will prepare some new music for the occasion.

Coroner Taylor held an inquest over the remains of J. P. Thacker, who committed suicide on Friday at the Sexton's office at 12 o'clock yesterday. Very little was elicited in addition to the facts already published. Mrs. Bruce, at whose house the deceased lived, testified that two women visited him on Tuesday afternoon, and there appeared to be trouble between them. She stated that the women shook their fists at Thacker, and thinks that their conduct drove him to desperation.

An adjournment was then taken until to-morrow at 2 p. m., when the two women referred to by Mrs. Bruce will be present and testify.

YOCKS! WHOOP! HO!

The Nationals Beaten by the Farmers in the Last Innings.

The several hundred people who went to Washington Square yesterday afternoon saw a remarkable spectacle. The Silver Greys, the greater part of them fresh from tackling reapers and mowers and shearing sheep, tackled the Nationals, who were fresh from eight victories and defeats with the Salt Lakes. The Nationals fooled along a good deal at the start, changed three different pitchers and otherwise deceived themselves as if they thought they held four aces, and when they had been given their nine innings they went out with the score standing 3 to 3. In the ninth inning, when no one thought they had a ghost of a show the Nationals doubled up on hit the ball, did some Comanche yelling, filled the bases twice with men and got doughty George Day at the bat, got him to bring in two men—and actually pulled their score up to 9, leaving their opponents in a run struck sort of way staring at their own figure 8.

The Salt Lakes and Nationals play Tuesday, which will be the last game prior to the triumphal march of Jones' nine toward Heber City. They get their expenses and all there is to be made out of the tour, which would enable them to set up as bank presidents.
